

BUILDING Just Communities

It is with great enthusiasm that the Sustainability Institute Latin America and the Caribbean (InS), with the support of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America (ELCA), launches the Building Just Communities project.

The objective of this initiative is to train church leaders in Latin America and the Caribbean by offering a space for formation and collective reflection. This will allow participants to develop the skills, abilities, and a comprehensive understanding of justice in its many dimensions.

Participants will have access to free training and practical tools that they can share with their faith communities, enabling them to replicate the learning and strengthen actions aimed at building more just and sustainable communities.

Through webinars, collaborative reflection spaces, materials, and practical tools, the leaders will be equipped to promote the restoration and strengthening of their community environments.

The project aims not only to provide a deep understanding of justice but also to train participants to generate positive impacts and transform their realities, all rooted in the Christian call to be salt and light in the world.

We are delighted to have you with us!

Operational Team
Sustainability Institute Latin America and the Caribbean

Support

